

In Search of a New Home

The photos below are views of the organ from South Peace United Church in Dawson Creek, BC. When the church property was sold in May 2018, this Rodgers Cambridge 220-II series instrument was in working condition. Since that time, it has been kept in warm clean storage, and now needs to be re-homed as the owners of the space have moved and the building is being sold. For more information, please contact South Peace United Church by email to spuc@pris.ca. The cost is quite negotiable, as the primary concern is that it be moved from its current location.

